

HUSH

By: Ashley Jo

Ash is a sophomore majoring in Applied Psychology at NYU. They love doodling while procrastinating and working at nice cafes.

Although there are times where I hide a part of myself, I take comfort in knowing that part of my identity will always be there. The theme Hush refers to the secrets that we might have, so as the winter comes, I thought that I should remind myself of the facets I keep away and that although I may hide it, it'll always be a part of me that protects me from the cold.
